The unspeakable Turk is with us.

And the boys out in Manila—what about them?

Didn't anybody send Dewey a Thanksgiving dinner?

Who is the man whose turkey will steam on the President's mahogany today?

There was no business before the probate court Wednesday except the regular routine work.

The Bangor festival chorus will hold their rehearsal on Friday evening under the direction of Mr. E. S. Pitcher, of Belfast.

The A. B. S. will hold its regular meeting Friday evening, Dec. 1st at the Workmen's Hall, for the nomination of officers.

The county commissioners who have been holding a session in their rooms at the court house since Tuesday morning, adjourned until Friday.

If the Sultan of Sulu heard the President's Thanksgiving proclamation, what will he treat his gentle subjects and his many wives with? Dodo?

Frances Dighton Williams Chapter, D. A. R., will hold its regular meeting with Mrs. J. N. Curtis, at 224 Forest avenue, on Friday, Dec. 1, at 4 P. M. Board of management at 3.30.

The drug store men say that the demand for dextro and collo medicines during the last two days has been unprecedented. This looks as if Bangor's dinner today was to be a rich one.

Miss Florence Swan will resume her class in piano music Monday, Dec. 4th, and will also take a limited number of pupils in mandolin, banjo and guitar at her residence No. 213 Center street.

Bangor Orange Lodge, 443, will have an oyster supper and orange rally at their hall, 94 Main street, Thursday, Nov. 30th. Rev. J. M. Frost, of Bangor, Rev. E. L. Hunt, of Boston, Mass., and several other ministers will speak. Subject, "Why We Are Orangemen." Supper from 5 to 8 P. M. Rally to commence at 8 P. M.

A Caribou correspondent writes: The Knights of the Macabees, one of the leading beneficiary societies in the country, was organized in this town Nov. 23 with a charter list of 23. It bids fair to be one of the largest orders in the place, and all those who are in need of good protection will find the K. O. T. M. right up to date.

In the Municipal Court, on Wednesday, Robert Wilson, of Prince Edward Island, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail for drunkenness. Vetal Pelka, of Brewer, was fined $3 and costs for the same offence. John O'Rourke, of Oldtown, John Royce, of Boston, James Graham, of Portland, and Thomas Callahan, of Boston, were each given 30 days in jail for intoxication.

Early on Wednesday afternoon, a pair of horses which were left standing on Main street near the E. C. Nichols Company's store, became frightened at a passing trolley car and, jumping onto the sidewalk, started to run up the street. The sidewalk was crowded with ladies and children at the time, and had it not been for the prompt action of Game Warden C. C. Nichols, who was nearby, some terrible accident might have followed. Mr. Nichols, with great presence of mind and courage, seized the horses' heads just in time and stopped the frightened pair before any damage was done.

On Wednesday afternoon at about 1:50 two strokes on the fire alarm summoned Chief S. A. Fellows to the building on Central street occupied by the American Express Company and Edward Jordan, the harness maker. A man who was at work repairing the zinc roof of the building, when a gasoline priming burner, when it exploded, and the burning fluid ran down the roof into the gutter. The central fire station was notified by telephone, and the chief's call sounded. He responded, but before it arrived, the small blaze had been extinguished by a pail of water.

On Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, the Bangor postoffice will be entirely closed from 9 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening and the officials of the various departments will enjoy a well earned rest. There will be no deliveries today, but the carriers' window and also the general delivery window will be kept open from 8 to 9 A. M. The stamp office will be open during the same hours, and also from 7 until 8 P. M. The money order department will be closed all day.

On Wednesday morning Mr. John T. Pierce, a well known and promising young Bangor business man died at his home at 95 Highland street after a three weeks' illness of typhoid fever. Mr. Pierce was in the employ of T. R. Survan & Co. of this city, and was only 19 years old. He was an energetic, bright, young fellow and had been recently promoted as a traveling salesman for the firm. To mourn his death he leaves a mother, Mrs. Carrie L. Pierce, and a sister, Miss Edith L. Pierce. The funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. Pierce on Friday morning at 10 o'clock. The arrangements have not as yet been decided upon.

The old story about wolves in Maine has appeared again. The stories come each season, but no one ever gets a wolf pelt as a voucher.

Events for the past two or three years have caused a searching of maps and althaps, and people are better posted on geography than they ever were before.

W. D. Smith of Bangor, the contractor for the new Gardiner railroad, was in that city this week looking over the progress of the workmen.

THE GREAT FEASTING DAY

and How it Originated.

Eat Heartily, For Prosperity Abounds.

Thanksgiving day is once more here and the Whig extends happy greetings to its readers and desires to announce that it is thankful for the prosperity that has attended it the past year.

Looking back at the days when times were hard and then viewing the present situation, Bangor people and the people of good old Maine should this day feast with light hearts, as an abundance of good things surround them.

Think of that cranberry sauce boiling and spluttering on the old kitchen stove, and hear that turkey sizzling and kicking in the oven. Is it not enough to make us feel that life is a worth living and that we have been repaid for waiting so patiently for the clouds to clear away to give us once more a period of beautiful sunshine? Surely it is, and we have cause to be thankful.

WHAT SHALL WE RETURN?

We publish this morning a little poem appropriate for the day and from the able pen of Margherita Arlina Hanna, a former Bangor girl whose work is rapidly making a name for her. It is entitled "What Shall We Give Thee in Return?"

For harvest such as marked the Pharaohs away;

For forces which like Thee of old, Are pillars of black smoke by day, And in the night of fiery gold.

For myriad mines, where labor never sleeps;

For furnaces which ever burn; We render thanks, O Lord of lands and deeps.

What shall we give Thee in return?

For countless schools where childish voices ring;

For roads of steel from sea to sea; For music of the printing press and type;

For matchless art and industry; For argosies on river, lake and bay, And fleets which every ocean churn;

We render thanks, O Lord and humbly pray.

What shall we give Thee in return?

The Master gives of talents each his tale,

And, when the allotted time expires, Even though the gift is made of no avail,

The same with increase He requires. Our wealth and power are largesses from Thee;

Their portent we cannot discern; But we may ask in all humility,

What shall we give Thee in return?

Is it to raise a semi-savage race, And bring them nearer unto Thee? Is it to sow in every desert place The seeds of truth and liberty?

Is it for us to govern, and to teach, Or suffer long until we learn?

Our grateful hearts to Thee for guidance reach.

What shall we give Thee in return? Margherita Arlina Hanna, In Boston Post.

THE ORIGIN OF THANKSGIVING DAY.

The origin of Thanksgiving Day is lost in the mists of antiquity.

In fact a new man learned to cultivate the gentle art of agriculture, even in its most primitive form; there seems always to have been some custom prevalent of rendering thanks to the harvest, either to gods or to the deity in which the recipients reposed their confidence. In all the European countries today the custom of giving thanks after the harvest has been gathered continues, and most of the Christian churches hold services bearing the occasion. Thanksgiving days are therefore practically as old as civilization itself.

As an American institution Thanksgiving day commenced with the gathering of their first crops by the Pilgrim fathers, who were the first New England wilderness, and the day has always remained the principal holiday in this section, sturdy pioneers having carried the good custom along with them into every state of the Union.

With the gathering of the crops of the year 1623, the harvest after their arrival, the day gained especial significance from the fact that a long period of drought had threatened the colonists with famine, which was averted just as it in response to their prayers by the coming of rain, and the custom of holding Thanksgiving annually after harvest was thereafter most solemnly observed.

IN AMERICA.

The American Thanksgiving Day is really, therefore, of Puritan origin, and on that account perhaps has always held its own as a great national holiday, the subsequent feast of Christmas never having been regarded as of equal importance.

It was William Bradford, the first governor of the New England colonies, who had the honor, 276 years ago, of initiating the custom by issuing the first Thanksgiving proclamation. The stout-hearted wanderers, over whom he exercised civil functions, who had been feasting the first on account of the adverse weather, stood, rejoicing over their sudden deliverance from famine. There has probably never been a Thanksgiving Day celebrated since when the feeling of thankfulness was so heartily and gratefully expressed.

The period of our country was absolutely inadequate for the rendering of all the thanks which the worthy Pilgrims felt it their duty to offer, so they made a good half week of it, beginning on Thursday morning and continuing it until the day after the day of the Sabbath. However, the custom of celebrating the day on the following day, the first of November, was adopted by the Pilgrims.

THE FEAST.

The feast of the proclamation of the Whig extends happy greetings to its readers and desires to announce that it is thankful for the prosperity that has attended it the past year.

100 HIDES.

Game Warden Nichols Seized Them Wednesday.

One of the Most Important Captures Made This Season—Wednesday's Game Record.

On the arrival of the Bangor & Arcootook train in this city on Wednesday noon, Game Warden C. C. Nichols seized 100 deer hides, illegally shipped to Boston by C. E. Robinson, of the town of Chrystal in Arcootook county. This is an important capture as deer hides are not allowed to be shipped out of the state in this manner for commercial purposes. The hides are worth $1 apiece in Boston, where they are tanned, and made into buckskin gloves, and other articles. It has not yet been decided, as to what will be done with the captured hides, or the man by whom they were shipped.
